

New York City Public Payphones: How Many Are Left?

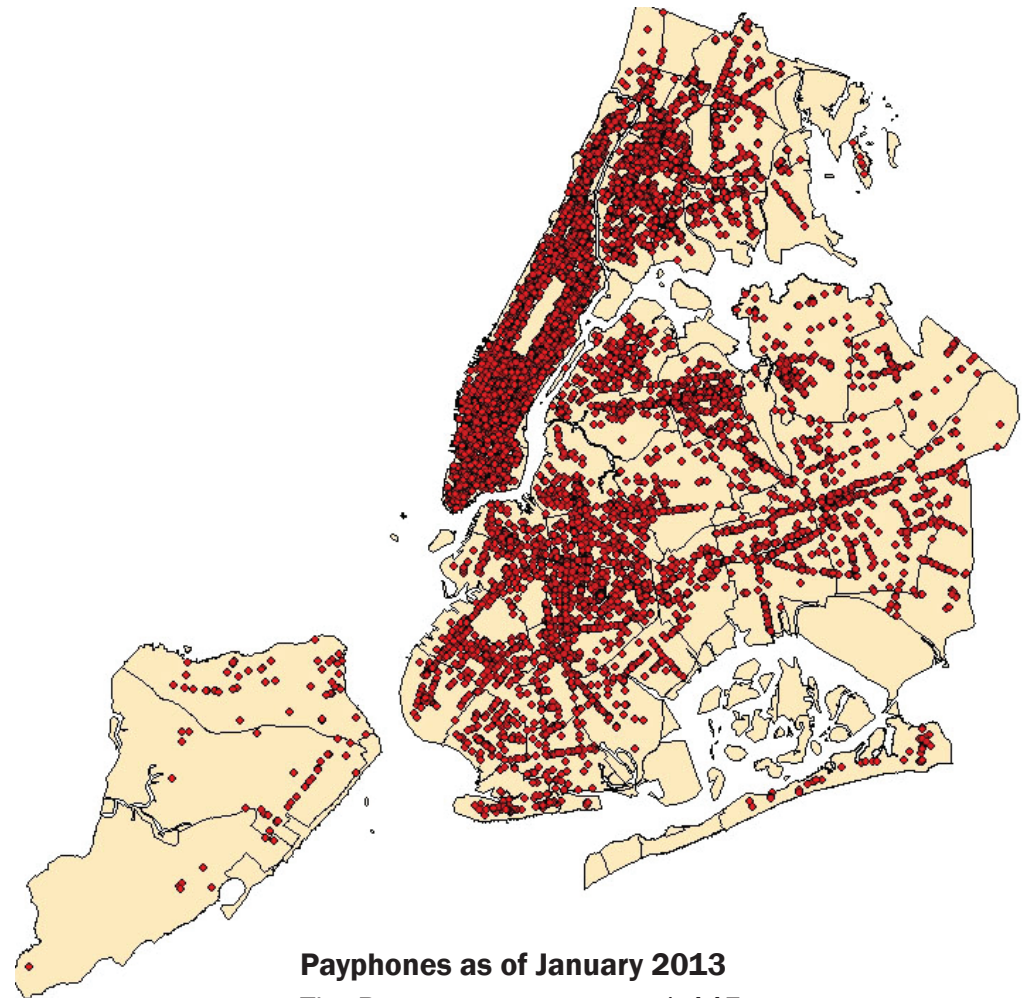

In January 2013 there were 11,249 working payphones in public locations citywide, a decline of almost 50 percent since 2008.

- The Bronx, Brooklyn, and Staten Island have seen decreases of about 60 percent.
- The number of payphones has fallen 33 percent in Manhattan and 52 percent in Queens.

The city collects 10 percent of revenue from calls placed from payphones and 36 percent of revenue from advertisements on the payphones.

- City revenue from calls has declined steadily since 2008.
- City revenue from advertising has increased sharply since 2010.

Payphones as of January 2013

The Bronx	1,445
Brooklyn	2,114
Manhattan	5,509
Queens	2,079
Staten Island	102
Total	11,249