IBO Release's 2024 Budget Options Volume

February 7, 2024 – The New York City Independent Budget Office (IBO) is excited to announce the release of its new 2024 Budget Options Volume. Budget Options are policy ideas that have the potential to create savings or new revenue for the City. Within each option you will find a summary of the initiative, an estimate of its fiscal implications, and arguments for and against the policy idea.

IBO publishes this volume on a yearly basis to help spark policy discussions throughout New York City. Budget option ideas stem from a variety of sources including existing IBO research, policy debates around City agency operations, and current or proposed City and State legislation, among other sources. As an independent and nonpartisan entity, IBO does not endorse or recommend any specific policy idea within the 2024 volume.
